

TOP FIVE FRIDAY

NEW TWISTS ON OLD TALES

1

Tiger Lily by Jodi Lynn Anderson

YA ANDERSON, ebook, eAudiobook

Tiger Lily doesn't believe in love stories or happy endings, until she meets her tribe's most fearsome enemy: a teenaged Peter Pan. Welcome to Neverland, where Peter grows up and the girl with the crow feather in her hair has some dangerous decisions to make.

2

Dorothy Must Die by Danielle Paige

YA PAIGE, ebook, eAudiobook

Meet Amy Gunn: the other girl from Kansas and the only one who can stop a power hungry Dorothy who has taken over Oz. This cast of Emerald City includes good witches who can't be trusted, wicked witches saving the day, and angry munchkins.

3

This Monstrous Thing by Mackenzi Lee

YA LEE MACKENZI

Frankenstein gets a steampunk reboot: Alasdair brings his brother back from the dead with clockwork parts, but Oliver returns from the dead as a monster. Things get even worse when the city starts looking for the monster and his creator.

4

A Study in Charlotte by Brittany Cavallaro

YA CAVALLARO BRITTANY, ebook

Just because Charlotte Holmes and Jamie Watson are descendants of the original Holmes and Watson doesn't mean they need to be friends. But when they're framed for murders based on the Sherlock Holmes stories, they need to team up to clear their names.

5

Lock and Mori by Heather W. Petty

YA PETTY HEATHER, ebook

Miss James Moriarty might become Sherlock Holmes's greatest enemy one day, but neither of them know that when Sherlock challenges Mori to solve a murder before he does.
